Introduction:

Ysgol Gynradd Llandegfan is taking part in the Isle of Anglesey's Healthy School Scheme and as part of the work of developing Personal and Social Education is reviewing Life/Sex and Relationships Education in the Foundation Phase and Key Stage 2. The policy follows the guidelines set out by the Welsh Government in Circular 019/2010 Sex and Relationships in Schools.

The Personal and Social Education framework (APADGOS) 2008 in the Health and Welfare Department notes : Learners can be assisted to maintain their emotional and physical health and welfare, maintain their growth and development, and know how to safeguard themselves. As children and young people develop sexually, they need to understand physical changes, control sexual feelings and enjoy safe, responsible and happy interrelationships. The learners can also be enabled to search their feelings, develop self-awareness and self-respect, and develop their self-esteem.

Objective

This policy's objective is to add responsibly and developmentally to children's knowledge and experiences of their bodies and their relationships with the world around them. By doing so pupils will be able to deal better with adolescence developing skills and self-respect to be confident in their teenage years.

The Consultation Process:

We consult parents at the school by holding a Life/Sex and Relationships activity evening to ensure that we have given parents an opportunity to consider the plans and express opinion.

The school gives opportunities for KS2 pupils to evaluate Life/Sex and Relationships Education at the end of the programme for them to have the opportunity to voice their opinion on a way to adapt the lessons if need be.

Parents' rights to exclude their children:

Parents have the right to exclude their children from those elements that are not part of the National Curriculum 2008.

If a parent/guardian has a concern they are welcome to come to School to discuss with the Headteacher.

This Arrangement has been noted in the School handbook.

The purpose and aims of Sex Education in the Primary School:

- Learn about life cycle
- To keep the pupils safe by assisting them to identify and respond to unacceptable behaviour by adults and other children
- To assist the pupils to become aware of different life situations emphasising moral importance.
- To assist the pupils to speak about matters regarding the body and relationships without embarrassment.
- To provide information about:

- a loving relationship
 - names of parts of the body
 - appropriate and inappropriate touch
 - the reproduction process
 - changes of adolescence
 - the baby's growth in the womb and birth
 - babies' needs and parents' responsibilities
- Begin to prepare the pupils for the decisions that they will make in the future and the experiences that they are likely to face.
- Assist the pupils to adapt to changes in the family
- Assist the pupils to understand their own and other people's feelings
- Teach the pupils to respect themselves and others.

Outcomes for Personal and Social Development, Well-being and Cultural Diversity in the Foundation Phase Framework,2008.

Outcome 2 – Foundation Phase

The children will become aware of their own feelings and emotions, and they will begin to identify with other people's feelings and emotions. They will begin to develop awareness of personal safety.

Outcome 3 Foundation Phase

They will identify appropriate behaviour for various situations and respond to reason.

Pupils should be given opportunities to:

- ❖ appreciate their own welfare and that of other people and contribute to it
- ❖ be aware of their own feelings and develop the ability to express them in an appropriate way
- ❖ understand the relationship between feelings and values, and understand that other people have feelings.
- ❖ grow independently from the point of view of satisfying their needs as regards personal hygiene, and be aware of personal safety.
- ❖ express and convey various feelings and emotions – our own as well as other people's
- ❖ be aware of other people's needs and respect them
- ❖ take responsibility for their own actions

By the end of the Foundation Phase the pupils will know the sexual parts of their bodies in order to differentiate between male and female. The terms that we use for male are penis and testicles and the vocabulary for a female are breasts and vagina. These terms will be used in referring to these parts of the body when discussing the subject in school. The table below indicates appropriate resources the school will use with the foundation phase pupils.

Presenting the Life/Sex and Relationships Educational Curriculum in School:

Sex Education is presented to pupils through:

- Circle Time periods
- Through specific subjects in the National Curriculum e.g. Science
- Cross-curricular subjects and specific subjects in the National Curriculum
- Welcoming mothers to come and talk to pupils about babies' needs
- Formal and informal opportunities

Increase in learning will include developing and extending the above subject at specific times in the Foundation Phase and Key Stage 2 encouraging gradual development in knowledge and understanding, skills and values.

Good practice in teaching programmes:

The School recognizes the following good practice and staff will adopt them as basic principles for Life/Sex and Relationship Education programmes.

- teachers who have received suitable training are confident
- consult pupils
- consult parents
- decide upon a basic class agreement with the pupils
- estrangement techniques
- informal/practical learning techniques
- group work
- teachers ensure that their personal opinions do not influence the programme
- clear guidelines on boundaries and confidentiality

- Question Box

Guidelines on specific matters of visitors and agencies who contribute to Life/Sex and Relationships Education:

The school ensures that any professional visitors and visitors from the community who contribute to PSE programmes are aware of this policy and agree to follow it.

- Staff discuss contributions before the visitors make presentations to the pupils to ensure that they are suitable and suit the ethos of the school
- Confidentiality (see below)

Confidentiality

It should be noted that teachers cannot offer unconditional confidentiality. If the pupils reveal that they are being abused or say something that cause the teachers to think that they are in danger of being abused Child Protection Wales' guidelines will have to be followed.

The staff discuss confidentiality with the pupils and ensure that they are aware of the boundaries of confidentiality.

In discussing class agreement the older pupils are requested not to discuss lesson content with junior pupils. We also encourage the pupils not to ask personal questions and we tell the pupils that teachers will not ask them personal questions.

We do not wish to give the message that sex is something to be ashamed of. Pupils will be encouraged to discuss the contents of lessons with their parents/guardians.

Answering Questions:

- Staff try to answer the pupils' general questions honestly considering the pupil(s) .
- Staff use an enquiry box that gives pupils an opportunity to ask questions anonymously and an opportunity for teachers to consider the questions before responding.
- If a pupil asks a question about values teachers will refer the pupil to his/her family and try to avoid giving his/her own viewpoint as the only correct one.
- If the teacher cannot answer, the pupils are encouraged to talk to their parents.
